

Garment District © Xen

I watched this story on the television during zenith of women's liberation movement back in the 1980-1990's; it shows just how misguided are some causes pursuing an agenda. It is both amusing and thought provoking. The libbers were protesting in front of a very high profile Playboy Club in New York City late one afternoon. That was when most of the bunnies and club staff were coming to work before the business men arrived for entertainment. Feminists protested exploitation of women's bodies and degrading them by 'forcing' her to work at such demeaning jobs. One bunny coming to work shoved her way through the protester's picket line with some difficulty. In front of TV cameras, a protester forced NOW literature into her hand and said, "Fight back, don't let sexist-pig-MEN exploit your sexuality." This proved too much for the bunny who said, "Look, honey, I'm a single mother with a son to support. This job pays 800.00 bucks a week plus tips, which comes to about 1600.00 bucks a week clear. I am treated with respect, have medical, other benefits and working conditions are great. Why do not you and your friends go picket the garment district? Those women slave 16 hours each shift in sweatshops for 12.00 bucks a day, have no benefits and work in dangerous, inhumane conditions. They are exploited and need your help; I do not and will be very pissed off if you ruin things for me; I've got a good thing going so don't spoil it." The bunny broke free, threw down the literature and pushed her way into work. TV cameras got everything on film and aired it verbatim as a statement to the fence sitting women who claim 'we are not all like that' cop out as excuse for doing nothing. The NOW protesters never did picket the garment districts or any other business that actually exploited women, but instead continued to protest high profile establishments like the New York City Playboy Clubs for attention and free publicity promoting an extremist, hate group cause. Aforewritten incident exposes the destructive ideology of NOW, and these misandrists wonder why public tolerance is turning against this group of aptly named Feminazis.